Office of Legislative Counsel

20 August 1971

25X1

[redacted] Met with Mr. John R. Blandford, Chief Counsel, House Armed Services Committee, who told me that there had been no further developments within the Committee regarding the new Subcommittee on Intelligence. Mr. Blandford would suggest, however, that it might be well if the Agency can deal with the new Subcommittee Chairman and the members of the new Subcommittee as a unit rather than dealing with him as an individual in providing briefings and so forth. Otherwise we could run the risk of upsetting the existing arrangements for dealing only with Messrs. Hebert and Arends on matters of substance. I thanked Mr. Blandford for the advice.
